EXERCISES FOR FLAG

Services at Mount Pleasant Congregational Church.

ADDRESS BY REV. DR. FISHBURN

Following Baptism of Several Children and Exercises by School, the Pastor Gives Object Lesson on "Our Love for the Red, White, and Blue"—Special Chorus Sings.

Patriotic exercises were held by the children of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church yesterday, the accustomed Children's Day programme giving way to one prepared for paying homage to the flag. There were songs, including choruses, in addition to special exercises participated in by the different classes of the Sunday school.

James E. West presided, and Ray F. Carly led the singing. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. A. M. Farrington. An organ prelude by Lewis Corning Atwater was the first number of the programme, following which a processional was sung in chorus by the school. The rite of baptism was administered by the pastor, Rev. M. Ross Fishburn, to the following children: Anna Louise Deane, Donald Ashley Deane, Gertrude Hartley, Margaret Elizabeth Heiss, Paul Ver Beck Heiss, Florence Dornier Partello, Francis Garnett Power, Harrison Somerville, Gilbert Edmund Stringer, Carol Wheeler, John Alden Wheeler, and Ethelyn Whittemore Zellers.

Exercises by Children.
Following responsive readings and a chorus by the school, W. J. Bowman, associate superintendent, gave a recitation of the twenty-third Psalm. Then came exercises by the children of the kindergarten department, participated in by the following:

Song, "Little Things"—Catherine Altomus, Edith Barker, Ruth Coleman, Marcia Brown, Dorothy Merrill, Ruth Kehler, Silva Anthony, Dorothy Clafflin, and Frances Peck.
"The Daisies"—Silas Hays, Harvey Burkett, Fred Holden, Hummel, Fishburn, Thornton Woodwell, Ralph Allen, and Robert Warren.
Recitation, "Children's King"—Cameron Lynum.
"Little Plants"—Miriam Williams, Audrey Herron, Marion Cleveland, Myra Putnam, Helen Wright, Martha Bliss, and Evelyn Jacob.
Exercises by the primary department were as follows:
Song, "Just a Little Pansy"—Margaret Heiss.
Recitation, "June Voices"—Margaret Heiss.
Song by chorus of girls—Marion Atten, John Bigelow, Mary Burkett, Elizabeth Gains, Millicent Bailey, Dorothy Darling, Ethel Hinds, Doris Hayes, Margaret Holden, Marjette Melvin, Dorothy Wood, Lillian Patterson, Margery Woodman, Catherine Tilden, Elizabeth Titcomb, and Gladys Woodwell.
Flag song, "Bring the Flag and Bring the Drum".

Quartet—Miss Winifred Hyde, Miss Evelyn Shedd, Mr. L. H. De Riemer, and Mr. Arthur H. De Riemer.

An Object Lesson.
An interesting feature of the exercises was an object lesson by the pastor, who took as his subject "Our Love for the Red, White and Blue." Mr. Fishburn told the children of the reverend affection which the soldier who fought under the Stars and Stripes bears our country's flag. He exhibited a beautiful silk banner and contrasted it with the worn and tattered standard of the Forty-seventh New York Volunteer Infantry. This flag, passed through no less than twenty battles, seven men were shot to death while carrying it. Its staff bears the marks of three bullets.

"You cannot wonder," said the minister, "that this broken staff and tattered banner are dearer to their owner, through the various vicissitudes of war and peace, than the new and perfect one which he holds in his hands to-day, than could be a modern flag of most costly material and most careful workmanship."

Speaking of the esteem for our flag felt by some of the foreign-born citizens of our land, Mr. Fishburn cited Jacob Rills, an imported Dane, as an illustration of the way an immigrant may come to love the Stars and Stripes.
Then placing before the audience a stand containing the flags of the twenty-one children of the manner in which the flag of various South American countries were cheered by North Americans, at the corner stone laying ceremonies of the Bureau of American Republics last month, Mr. Fishburn said:

"By these generous cheers our voices were sweetened for the heartier cheer of 'Old Glory' when, at the same ceremony, it was flung upon the breeze. Go on, then, loving the Stars and Stripes with an unvarying devotion, but know that you can the better do this if you show respect for the flags of the other nations, whose peoples comprise so large and important a part of our American population."

Special Chorus Sings.
The offertory was sung by a special chorus of sixteen voices, as follows:

L. H. De Riemer, Miss Winifred Hyde, Miss Evelyn Shedd, Miss Helen Apple, Miss Pearl Calhoun, Miss Ethel Dodson, Miss May Wilson, Miss Lottie Koehler, Miss Ruby Nevins, Miss Ida Morrill, Mr. Arthur H. De Riemer, Mr. M. W. Baldwin, Mr. E. Lester, Mr. S. Truesdell, Mr. S. Mills, Mr. Hathaway, Mr. S. Downing, and Mr. Rex Collins.

HEALTH BEFORE EDUCATION

Dr. Spanhoofd Makes an Address
Before the Turnverein.

Says Children Should Not Attend
Public Schools Before They Are Ten Years Old.

The semi-annual meeting of the Columbia Turnverein took place at the gymnasium of the society last night in the presence of a large audience.

In accepting the election as president of the society, Prof. Werner-Spanhoofd said if it were in his power he would permit any child to go to school before his tenth year; that the most important thing in education of children was that they be physically healthy and strong and well developed, and after that the question of book education might be considered.

"Give the children an opportunity first to develop physical strength," said Dr. Spanhoofd, "and the intellectual education will thereafter make rapid and satisfactory progress. A sick child can never measure up with a healthy child in school studies. For this reason I am heart and soul in favor of physical culture for children, and will do everything in my power to extend its blessing wherever I can."

The election of officers resulted as follows: A. Werner-Spanhoofd, president; Dr. J. H. Zapp, vice president; E. E. Mann, corresponding secretary; Max Bernstein, recording secretary; Alwin Feissner, treasurer; Karl Kollmar, first instructor; Jacob Fruch, second instructor; K. Halfter, property master; Bruno Brauner, second property master; Paul Halfter, librarian; Paul Arndt and J. Penkert, choir leaders.

William Nordhoff, delegate to the German Orphan Asylum, who was elected for another term, reported the trustees of the asylum had decided to introduce physical culture as a part of the educational curriculum at the asylum, and that the instructor of the Columbia Turnverein had been selected to teach the classes.

The committee for the grand athletic outdoor meet, which is to take place at Brightwood Driving Park July 8, reported progress. The Columbia Turnverein has been invited by the Elks to take part at the latter's outdoor festival to-morrow, and it is preparing to introduce some of its most stirring midair tumbling acts and other gymnastic stunts.

Festival of Music.

Under the direction of Edwin Hart, principal, and C. E. Christian, the Columbia Conservatory of Music will give its annual festival of music at the Carroll Institute Hall, 912 Tenth street northwest, to-night and to-morrow night at 8 o'clock. Lengthy programmes have been prepared for each performance, including selections from famous composers.

The condition of Sylvanus E. Johnson, the veteran newspaper man, who has been ill about a week, was said to be slightly improved last night. Dr. Percy Hickling, attending physician, says there is hope for his recovery.

CANARIES IN CHURCH

Birds Take Part in Children's Day Exercises.

DECORATIONS A RUSTIC SCENE

Services at the Calvary M. E. Church in Columbia Road Are Elaborate and Largely Attended—Rev. Joseph Dawson, Pastor, Gives Sketch of Origin of Day at Chelsea, Mass.

Special services in celebration of Children's Day were held in conjunction with the Flag Day exercises in many Washington churches yesterday. For the most part, the children of the Sunday school departments participated in the musical and literary programmes, the pastors in each case making short addresses of patriotic as well as religious import.

At the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church in Columbia road, near Sixteenth street, the services were the most elaborate and best attended in the history of that congregation.

The pulpit and choir alcove were decorated to resemble a rustic scene, with the singing canaries in cages between the flowers and plants. With this tropical background, the smaller children of the Sunday school sang the opening chorus, accompanied by a stringed orchestra of ten pieces.

The programme consisted of a cantata, dialogues, solos, and recitations. Among those who led in the choruses were Ella Gardner, Walter Fowler, and Albert Denham.

Gives Sketch of the Day.

In a brief address, Rev. Joseph Dawson, pastor, gave a brief sketch of the origin of Children's Day, saying it was inaugurated by the Universalist Church at Chelsea, Mass., in 1857.

"Its observance was adopted by the Methodist General Conference in 1885, which designated the second Sunday in June, and provided a collection on that day for an educational or children's fund. This fund is used to assist young men and women in obtaining an education. Several of the churches recently elected at the General Conference owe their education largely to the aid afforded by this fund."

"The Baptists adopted Children's Day in 1886, and the Congregationalists in 1896, and the Presbyterians in 1887."

Dr. Dawson concluded his address by urging the congregation to maintain interest in the observance of Children's Day. In charge of the exercises were Frederick C. Croston, George S. Gibson, Mrs. C. F. Baich, Mrs. Paul Sienan, Benjamin Chamberlain, and Oscar Wyatt. The formal decorations were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Brown, A. Throckmorton, Allen Davis, W. S. Small, W. S. Hardesty, Paul E. Sienan, F. S. Curtis, E. Grosvenor, and Nora Hoegelsberger.

MAN BURIED 10 DAYS LIVES

McCrea None the Worse for Interment at Luna Park.

Hypnotized by Hindoo, He Sleeps Underground and Only Gets Hungry.

At Luna Park, ten days ago, a man was buried alive in the presence of several thousand persons, and yesterday he was taken from his earthly bed, all for scientific research.

And yet there is no smallest bit of greenness attached to either circumstance, for the man, Coleman McCrea, was hypnotized by a Hindoo mystic, Prof. Bundah Kuppuraw by name, by his own consent, and slept amid scenes of light, laughter, and music, his face exposed to the view of all the thousands of pleasure seekers who cared to stop and look upon him.

Last night at 8:50 o'clock it took fully twenty minutes for five strong men to uncover the coffin. When it was fully uncovered, the top was split open, and the body of the young man was perfectly rigid when it was lifted, like that of a man sometime dead. After being placed on the stretcher, the march to the crowd, this was a feat, for it was impossible until a strong guard had been placed all around the stretcher. When the sheet was taken from the body it was seen that McCrea's lips were slightly discolored and his eyelids almost imperceptibly twitching, and that his joints were perfectly stiff. Then Prof. Bundah Kuppuraw stepped up beside the recumbent figure and made a few passes before his face. McCrea sighed and opened his eyes, and then in a moment he threw his arms out with a tense gesture. After swaying a moment, he made a sudden lunge at the Hindoo, who stepped aside to avoid him, and said "Hello, and McCrea answered "Hello" in a smothered voice.

After being given light nourishment, McCrea was escorted to the band shell, where he made a brief address, telling his experience. He said that when he lost consciousness he felt that he hit something, and then began to fall, and floated on, though whether ascending or descending, he was unable to say, until the time when he awoke on the stage with the same feeling of having hit something with a great force.

This is the longest test ever made in a civilized world, the other having been made in East India.

Saloon in a Livery Stable.

Sgt. Lee and Detective Kleindienst, of the First precinct, with a detail of men, yesterday raided a livery stable at Eleventh and C streets northwest and arrested two employees who are charged with keeping an unlicensed saloon. The police say when they forced an entrance into the stable they found a saloon in operation. Charles Johnson and Isiah Shelton, negroes, were arrested.

PREACHES TO YOUNG MEN.

Rev. Dr. Kelly Spenser at the Y. M. C. A. Yesterday.

Rev. Joseph T. Kelly, D. D., pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, was the speaker at the men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon.

In explaining his text, "What is that in thine hand?" Dr. Kelly said: "These were God's words to Moses when He came to bid him take up the work of liberating the Israelites and teach them to honor their Creator. Moses, like the majority of men, did not think his natural talents of sufficient account. When God approached him, he made excuses about his inability to perform the tasks asked of him. So, too, many of us are asked to sacrifice ourselves in bringing recreant souls into His fold."

After enumerating incidents to show how men have devoted their talents and lives to spreading the word of God, and telling of the reward attained, Dr. Kelly concluded by saying: "Young men, it is earnest prayer that you who have allied yourselves with the noble work of this institution may not only continue the good work in progress here, but may respond when God asks you the question, 'What is that in thine hand?'"

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock from the family residence, 233 Eleventh street northwest. Rev. Herbert Scott Smith conducted the services.

The honorary pallbearers were: Judge J. W. Whitten, chief law clerk, General Land Office; E. C. Finney, member of the law board; Maj. F. C. Larrabee, Assistant Commissioner Indian Office; S. A. McSime, and Col. John S. Mosby.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

F. H. Heard Says He Was Beaten by Gang in C Street.

Edward White, eighteen years old, of 124 Fourth and a-half street southwest, was arrested early yesterday morning by Detective Kleindienst and Sgt. Lee, of the First precinct, on charge of holding up and robbing F. H. Heard. The prisoner was first held for investigation, but after being identified by Heard, the charge was changed to robbery.

It is alleged White and two companions met Heard on the night of June 4 and after taking several drinks with him, walked down Fifteenth street to C street. At that point Heard says they beat him and robbed him of $5.
